

Marion Lieutaud

PhD candidate
Sociology of gender and migration

m.lieutaud@lse.ac.uk

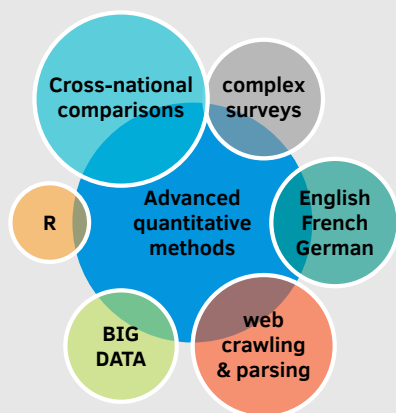

Sociology/Marion-Lieutaud

Academia/MarionLieutaud

Skills

References

Dr. Ursula Henz (LSE)

u.henz@lse.ac.uk

Prof. Vincent Dubois (IEP Strasbourg - SAGE)

vincent.dubois@misha.fr

Dr. Fabien Accominotti
(LSE/UW Madison)

f.accominotti@lse.ac.uk

Education

2016 - 2020

(Expected)

Ph.D. Sociology

London School of Economics and Political Science

London, UK

Specialisation: sociology of gender and migration

Supervisor: Dr. Ursula Henz. (Second advisor: Dr. Patrick McGovern)

2018 - 2020

Associate doctoral fellow

Marc Bloch Zentrum

Berlin, Germany

Unit "Mobilities, migrations and reconfiguration of spaces"

2014 - 2015

Masters political science (double degree)

Science Po

Strasbourg/Grenoble

Strasbourg, France

"Sociological and political research" (best student and dissertation)

2013 - 2014

MPhil in Sociology

Trinity College Dublin

Dublin, Ireland

"Race, ethnicity, conflict" (1.1)

2012 - 2013

ERASMUS Sociology

Trinity College Dublin

Dublin, Ireland

2009 - 2012

Bachelor political Science

Science Po Grenoble

Grenoble, France

2011

Academic Exchange - Political Science

University of Konstanz

Konstanz, Germany

Research Experience

2016 - 2020 Ph.D research

London School of Economics / Marc Bloch Zentrum

- Working title 'Roads of inequality: Gender, migration trajectories and the division of labour'
- Investigates the connections between partnership patterns, migration sequences and the division of paid and unpaid labour in couples.
- Focuses on the role of migration. Includes chapter on the mitigating capacity of outsourcing household labour and care work.
- Cross-national comparison between the UK and France
- Uses quantitative methods including (but not limited to) survey-weighted linear and generalised linear regression models, splines, descriptive statistics.
- Uses complex large-scale survey data from Understanding Society for the UK and Trajectory and Origins (1) for France
- Includes an interview- and archive-based qualitative chapter dedicated to historicising and politicizing the surveys data, their constraints and choices of analytical categories.

2015 - 2016

Research assistant

SAGE research centre - University of Strasbourg

- Collaboration with Prof. Vincent Dubois
- Research project on the topic of welfare fraud in French political discourse.
- Performed a big data extraction from the website of the French Assemblée Nationale (using web-crawling and parsing techniques) to build a database on all relevant parliamentary questions.
- Conducted the quantitative analyses of the data.
- Co-wrote the resulting article with V. Dubois.

- Dissertation title "Gender, Trajectories and Inequalities - Mixedness Through the Lens of Gender" (Link). Supervisor: Dr. Alice Debauche
- Quantitative research using Trajectory and Origins (1) survey data.

- Dissertation title 'He's my bonus': French-Irish Relationships as Millieu and Token of Movility Capital. Supervisor: Dr. Antje Roeder
- Qualitative research based on semi-structured interviews.

Publications

Publications: peer-reviewed articles

- [forthcoming] "Welfare fraud in questions: the naturalisation of a political issue in light of parliamentary questions at the French National Assembly (1986-2016) – with Prof. V. Dubois. The article will be published in the 2020 September issue of the French Review of political science (temporary link).

Conference presentations and working papers

- « "Isn't it just an interaction effect?" Survey data, statistical methods and intersectional failures » with Dr. Léa Renard. Upcoming presentation at the Gender, Work and Organization 11th Biennial International Interdisciplinary Conference, University of Kent, June 2020 (reported to 2021). Stream 16 'The Present and Future of Intersectionality: Controversies, Challenges, Transformations and Opportunities'. Draft paper intended for Gender and Society.
- « Who does what in the end? The sexual division of labour in migrant-native couples or how to connect gendered trajectories and gendered outcomes of migration. - 2020 Understanding Society scientific conference, session 'Employment & gender'. July 2019, University of Essex.
- "Gender through migration, migration through gender: Age, age gap and the sexual division of labour in couples" Workshop "Family Migration Processes in a Comparative Perspective: Causes, Patterns, Effects", Nov. 2018, WissenschaftsForum, Berlin.
- "Manufacturing Indicators of Mixedness: How Statistics Come to Obscure Gender" 2017 European Sociological Association conference, Session 'Women's and gender studies', Aug. 2017, Athens.
- "Social Fraud" into questions: the rise of a political theme analysed through parliamentary questions (1986-2016)", with V. Dubois. 2017 Congress of the French Association of Political Science, Session 'In the shadow of the law. Parliamentary work and political life', Jul. 2017, Montpellier.
- "The Gender of Inequalities: Migration and Inequalities in Transnational Couples". Berlin Doctoral summer school, Jul. 2017, Berlin.

Media

- Football or Women's football – what's the catch for women playing sport at LSE?, Researching Sociology, LSE Sociology blog, April 2019. Longer version published in the Beaver (LSE student newspaper)
-

Methodology training and relevant skills

- Advanced skills in R and R-studio. Competent with Stata, Python, SPSS, Excel, LaTeX.
- Web-crawling and web-parsing. Performed many big data extractions (see article with V. Dubois: 'Welfare fraud in questions' for an application).
- Advanced modelling and visualisation skills, including: survey-weighted modelling, multilevel modelling, non-parametric and semi-parametric modelling, machine learning, sequence analysis, multiple correspondence analysis, regressions
- language skills
 - English: native
 - French: native
 - German: fluent

Grants and scholarships

2016 - 2020	LSE PhD studentship Fully-funded 4-year PhD scholarship	London School of Economics
2020 - 2021	LSE PhD Covid-19 extension 6 month funding extension due to Covid-related work disruption and caring responsibilities	London School of Economics

Teaching experience

2019 - 2020	Graduate Teaching Assistant 'Work, inequality and Society'. Sociology undergraduate course. Course convenor: Patrick McGovern	London School of Economics
2015-2016	Course Convenor 'Sociology of gender and the family'. Sociology undergraduate course	University of Strasbourg